

SOCIAL CIRCLES

"Guests were treated to an evening of surprises that evoked the magic of camp... from wine delivered by aerial artists and bicyclists to sky-high campfires to dancing with the incomparable Don Cagen Orchestra. The evening was a fun and festive way to thank this amazing community for their incredible support."

—JANE SACCARO, CEO, KESEM

FLY ME TO THE MOON

Redmoon Theater enchanted guests at Camp Kesem's first ever Magic Ball.

ON THE SCENE

By Jahcelyne Patton

Magic Moment

Whimsy and wonder took the forefront at the first Magic Ball for Camp Kesem.

THE PARTY

A party at the quirky Redmoon Theater is a guaranteed evening of fun, but when the night benefits a heart-touching organization like Camp Kesem, which provides free summer-camp experiences for the children of cancer patients, it's sure to be a night to remember—and the nonprofit's inaugural Magic Ball was just that.

THE PEOPLE

Revelers watched in awe as aerialists served Champagne while hanging from a chandelier, and jovial performers served drinks from decked-out vintage bicycles. The fun continued with a series of nostalgic summer camp-inspired activities—ballgoers participated in the tradition of choosing a camp name and crafted “luminary bags” to honor someone in their life affected by cancer.

BEST IN SHOW

Following a delicious seated dinner from G Catering + Events and a lively auction, partygoers tore up the dance floor to the tune of the popular Don Cagen Orchestra. At evening's end, $735,000 was raised—a sum that will provide an unforgettable camp experience to nearly 1,500 children this summer. Truly magical!

[SOCIAL CIRCLES]

One of the evening's installations

Mariann and Tony Parasida

Bites from G Caterings + Events

Courtney Lebeda and Jess Valle

Courtney McDonough chats with guests.

Jason Ellison and Rachael Suffrin

Performers added to the charm of the evening.

Dara Levy, Susanna Negovan and Jane Saccaro

PHOTOS COURTESY OF T & S HUGHES PHOTOGRAPHY